London Life Sciences Week
16 – 21 November 2025

Partner Social Toolkit

London Life Sciences Week (LLSW) is the annual event that unites the global life sciences community for a week of networking, dealmaking and investment opportunities. The week is centered around the Jefferies European Healthcare Conference, which attracts over 3000 international senior decision-makers from life science companies and investors. Hosted by MedCity, London and Partners, and the BioIndustry Association (BIA), LLSW kicks off with a 'Welcome to London' reception and features a series of events to promote and celebrate life sciences in London, supercharge investment opportunities, enhance global collaboration, and showcase London's unique offer for life sciences.
